Alexandria Market, July 26 The market is very unsettled, and we hear of very few transactions, and light offerings. Flour was offered freely at $5 for Superfine, without finding buyers. Extra may be quoted at $5.75@$6, and very dull. Family offered freely at $7. We hear of no sales of Wheat, which is quiet, though a further reduction is not looked for-the receipts being light, and wheat wanted at once. Corn is in moderate demand and supply. We quote white at Soc. In Kye and Oats there is very little doing, and we have no change to note in quotations.

TERRIFIC STORM .- Some portions of Goochland and Powhatan counties were visited by a terrific storm last Friday night, the damages by which are estimated to be very great. We understand that the dwelling of Mr. M. Hobson was unroofed, that the chimneys were blown down, and that one or more of his tobacco houses were levelled with the ground. The growing crops in that section are said to have suffered terribly from the tornado, which tore down fences, uprooted trees, and prostrated the corn that grew along its path.—Rich. Disp.

A correspondent of the Richmond Whig, from Amherst C. H., July 22, says:-"A terrific hurricane swept across this county last evening, accompanied with rain and hail, Though it continued only about half an hour, a great deal of damage has been done to the tobacco and corn crops. Fruit trees have been blown down, broken, and stripped of 9,894 82 their fruit. Houses and sheds have been unroofed. The house in which I lodged shook from its foundation. Altogether, it was the most violent wind that the people remember.

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING AND SUICIDE. Mr. Henry Cox, of Henrico, has lost two valuable servants by drowning, within the past forty-eight hours. At an early hour last Sunday morning, a negro boy, about twelve years of age, procured a piece of plank and went 20,260 00 into James river, at his master's landing, to 776 25 bathe. After floating about for a short time, 897 68 he lost his hold on the plank, and the river being deep, soon sunk to rise no more.

Some few hours after the above occurrence, a valuable negro woman was spoken to for some neglect of duty, and answering impertinently, Mr. C. boxed her jaws. At an early hour yesterday morning she arose from her bed, walked to the bank of the river, jumped in, and soon drowned. She was said to be a servant of violent temper, and doubtless destroyed herself to spite her master.-Richmond Dispatch.

The sheriff of Princess Anne county, Va., having received information, which he supposed to be reliable, that Land, the murderer, was on a small island in the Swamp, in Norfolk county, summoned seventy-five men, who went out on Thursday evening, surrounded the place, and searched for him until noon on Friday, but without success.

Buckton, Warren Co., July 25.

"We did think that if there was a project. the paternity of which was exclusively Democratic, and which has been energetically supported by the Democratic party, it was the Pacific railroad. The Republican State Convention of California, held at Sacramento and twenty six large warehouses for the accity, on the 1st of last month, have "resolved" that "the interest of the Democratic party" is opposed to the railroad, and that patriotism, philanthropy, and interest conspire to impel the National Republican party to build the road." It is the decided opinion of the convention, that the dependence of the country for a Pacific railroad, is upon the Republican par ty, and in no sense upon their opponents. Republican Conventions often entertain very singular opinions, and do very singular things; but, we venture to say, that they never enunciated a more thoroughly astounding opinion than that which we have just quoted. Senator Gwin and Mr. Scott, who, the American world has reason to believe. have supported the Pacific railroad, and whose services have some claim to recognition in connection with that gigantic project, are completely ignored as utterly unreliable, and the Black-Republicans are to be considered as the only faithful advocates of the measure.

We are not sure whether the author of this resolution was "a funny fellow," who wished to be witty at the expense of his friends a barefaced knave, who thought a falsehood as good as truth if it only served a temporary purpose; or a miserable enthusiast, who really believes that the Black-Republicans are actuated by patriotism and philanthropy."

ALEXANDRIA AND HER IMPROVEMENTS .-We referred a few days ago, to a rather gloomy view of Alexandria, in the contrast then presented between her former and present state. Alexandria, in common with all the seaports, North and South of New York. has lost much of her European and other direct import trade. If this state of things can be remedied, the citizens of Alexandria will thank any one who will devise the plan. Philadelphia, for a long time. the greatest city in the country, lost the greater part of her foreign trade, which was taken by New York. But Philadelphia has other and more certain sources f prosperity than foreign commerce, which have greatly increased. Alexandria may yet get into the same track, and we hope she will, ere long. But injustice is done to the people of Alexandria when they are accused of want of enterprise. It is true that none of our older citizens in times past, remember seeing "from ten to twenty ships at all seasons, and four or five times as many other vessels and small craft at our wharves." And as to the enterprise of Alxandria, where can a town be found which has done more to secure a sound and permanent prosperity. The Alexandria Canal was projected some thirty years ago by the then fathers of the city, and their wisdom will, no doubt, be fully justified by the event. This Canal is the greatest work in the country, begun and carried through by so small a community. There is no work in the United States, we believe equal to the piers of the Aqueduct, drawings of which have been taken by engineers from Europe. This Canal brings to Alexandria a considerable Coal trade, now counted by hundreds of thousands, and shortly, we hope, will be by millions of tons.

The subscription of Alexandria and her citizens to two of her railroads, have been heavier, we believe, according to her means, than that of any other town in the country. All her railroads run up into a rich and prosperous agricultural country. One of these roads, the Londonn and Hampshire, when finished, will open a route some forty miles shorter from the west to Washington, than any other, and will open a trade from Hampshire county of the best and most abundant supply of coal in the country; and with the Canal, we believe, will make Alexandria the greatest coal market in the United States .-This alone will greatly increase our popula

Washington has grown rich by the expenditure of public money, and no wonder that it, Island, and all, should prosper, as long as the public money continues to be spent there. We think then that it is no reproach to Alexandria, that she does not rival Washington; but the end is not yet. Should the seat of government ever be removed, there would, perhaps, he a slight decline in her prosper to pay three hundred millions of dollars to ty. Alexandria in that case would not suffer

Within a few years past fourteen first class warehouses and an extensive flouring mill have been put up on the River front, commodation of Merchants have been built in the vicinity of the wharves. Since 1850 there have been built six hundred brick dwellings, a greater portion of them first class. The lands around Alexandria have increased in value 100 per cent., and the best wheat that is now brought to this market is grown on lands in Fairfax County, contiguous to the city, which but a few years since, were almost unproductive. Very extensive improvements have been made at the wharves, and our coal wharves will, when completed, vie with those of Eastern cities, and the trade in coal from this place now, exceeds that of Baltimore, and is steadily in-
